All right, brother GLASS. You stick to your doctrine, and we'll stick to ours. At present it is not a practical question in Richmond, the City Committee having wisely decided to exclude pegroes from the ballotbox at the primary election to-morrow. We shall soon, however, have out candidates for the House of Delegates, and will then have a chance to put the candidates themselves on the record. It will then be a practical question.

LEE TOWN, June 23, 1877. Editors Dispatch : Dear Sirs,-I see from your most valuable paper of this morning that you predict we will have for our next Governor General Fitz. Lee, or some man with a W in his name.

Messrs. Editors, is it possible that you were such good boys while at school that you did not learn to look upon all the W family with dread or batred? I did. The W stood for whip, and I got it, and have never had any special fancy for any of them since, either capital or not, and certainly not at this time, when we intend to give the whole family of them Fitz, thereby benefiting them as well as the balance of our citizens of this noble old State.

Messrs. Editors, maybe you don't know that General Fitz. Lee is ten times more opposed to convict labor coming in contact with honest labor than that little Mahone who tried to throw dust into the eyes of posing convict labor in and around Richmond (to get the Richmond vote) while advocating it on other public works, to come in contact with other honest labor, without whose votes he thinks he can do, or knowing that he cannot get them any way. Then, come one, come all, not only against the little man with big expectations, but against the whole family of W's, for their good as well as for the good of glorious old Virginia. Come, ye cavalry, ye infantry, ye artillery, and let us give them all FITZ.

OPENJURE:

These waters and baths are richly CARBONATED ALKALINE, and their curative powers in dyspepsia, rheumatic gout, affection of kidneys and bander, eczema; and other diseases of the skin and case have been for many years well tested and established. CALCULUS yields readily to their action. They have proved of inestimable value to the female sex. All that is here claimed, and more, is abundantly vouched by the best medical testimony, as well as the statement of patients themselves, in my Springs pamphict.

Capon lies at the western base of North Mountain, surrounded by grand scenery, and is approached through a picturesque country. Visitors by rail from whatever quarter leave the cars at Winchester, thence by carriages—their baggage in separate was thence by carriages-their baggage in separate wa-
